

Bundled programmes

Having spent many years working with and for resellers, we know that you lot can be a demanding bunch! We appreciate that whilst all of our programmes are unique, we also know that often it's difficult to choose. With that in mind we have created 4 bundles which can help with our 3 core area's. They have been created based on our experience of what has proven to work, however if you to tailor them or want a standalone course then don't worry, we can accommodate!

People

We know that your people are the most important asset. We provide services to get people on-board more quickly get to grips with the market and provide development programs to give them more skills.

We offer a comprehensive online portal and an area where all attendees can access their course material, videos; contact one of the team or get some handy tips and guides when they have finished the training.

Our People bundle includes:

- Managed Induction
- Customer Service Excellence
- Effective communication
- Call handling coaching
